

The Royal's Chronicle

Est. May 28th, 2003

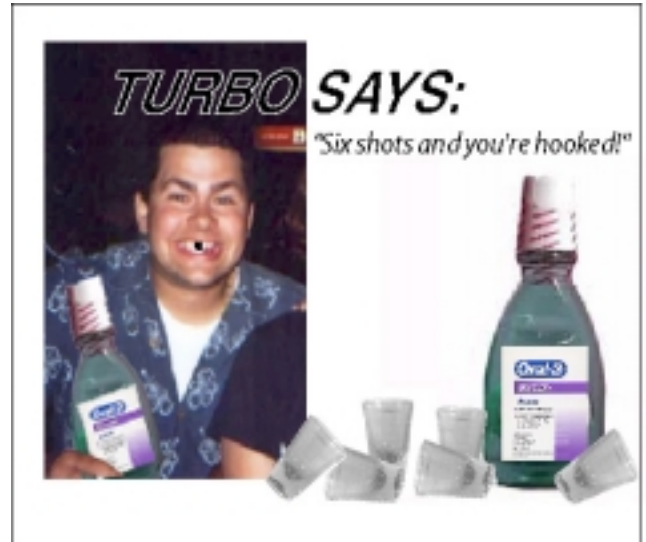

Volume 1 Issue 3

Monday, June 9, 2003

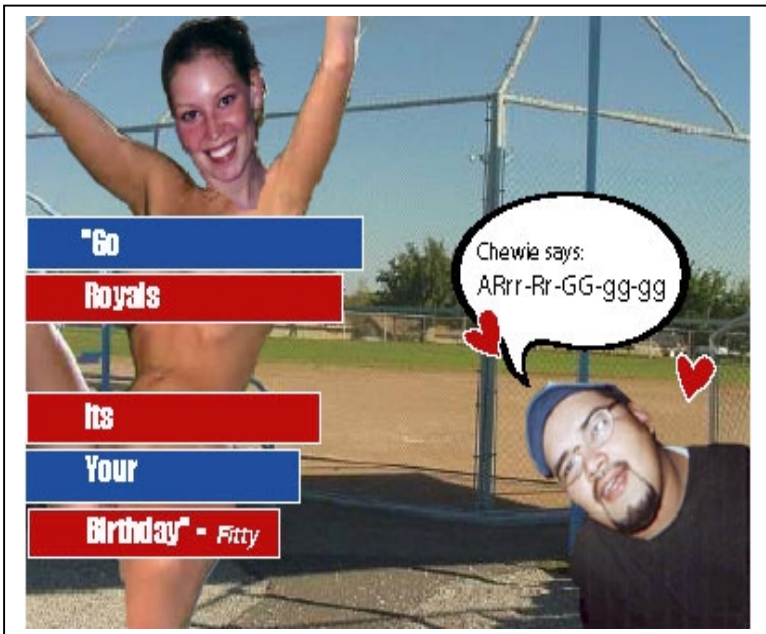

Air Jordan, Tiger Woods and now Turbo Sorge!!!

Royals GM, T-Bak signed Turbo to a $10 contract. Turbo has a family to support and loves his booze. This brutal contract covered the family expenses but the boozing came to a dramatic halt until the lovely wife introduced him to the wonderful world of Oral B. His passion for booze was in the form of mouthwash. Not only did we see a happier pitcher but it did wonders for his game. The man brought the heat - night in and night out - like he was 29 all over again. Thanks to Oral B we have a bonified AllStar pitcher. The man has just signed a $45 million contract with Oral B and is expected to wear the new Oral B180 Turbo cleats they are busy manufacturing. When asked how he felt about the Oral B contract he was too busy munching down on an Oral B sponge Cake. Keep a lookout for Turbo's Cook book.

Written by: Daggs

Royal's Incentive to Win Some T-Butt!

Not since the movie Major Leagues has there been a worse GM then T-Bak. The month has been rough with her pulling out all the stops to bring us down. The Royal's Chronicle has just been notified by a reliable source that if we lose all our games this month we will move down to B division and Miss Bak gets all our laminated VIP Card Savings. To some teams this is Shit Balls but when you average a whopping 14-team jugs and 17 fish bowls a night that Laminated Card Savings is major. The lovely Georgeous designed the beautiful poster below to inspire us Major League style. After every win this month a strip comes off T-Bak. Chewieeeee is loving it already. Fitty loves it like a FAT kid loves cake. Give'ER Royals!

Written by: Fitty

MVP Tonight will receive a Fitty CD from Daggz. Choose your MVP Here: _____